

Don Andrews

Don has been a securities attorney, compliance and risk professional for 35 years, covering banks, investment advisers and broker dealers. Don has been a prosecutor with the OCC, has defended financial professionals and served as Chief Compliance Officer for Wealth Managers, Global banks, as well as broker-dealers, investment advisers, mutual fund complexes, private equity and hedge funds. His current role is Chief Risk Officer for Protego Trust, one of the only three banks to receive a provisional charter from the OCC to engage in custody, trading and other related activities for digital currency. Don has a particular knack for start ups and difficult scenarios and also has significant experience in BSA/AML, and has even served as an MLRO for foreign subsidiaries. Don has also served as a legal advisor for entertainers, athletes and entertainment companies who have been involved in financial transactions and securities matters. Don loves music, philosophy, art, sports and nature, enjoys teaching and sharing ideas.