

Jeff Korzenik is the Chief Investment Strategist for Fifth Third Bank, responsible for the allocation and investment strategy of over $45 billion in customer assets. Jeff is a regular guest on CNBC, Bloomberg and Fox Business News, and his writings on economics and public policy have been published in Barron's, Forbes, Newsweek and other publications. He was recently elected a Member of the Council on Criminal Justice for his work on the intersection of the justice system and the labor markets. This spring, Harper Collins published Jeff's new book, "Untapped Talent," which shares the business case and best practices for hiring people with criminal records.