

Jim Dahl and Paul Bonadies have been trial lawyers for more than 40 and 20 years, respectively. They devote a substantial amount of their practice to cases involving institutional trustees. Jim and Paul have both defended corporate fiduciaries and prosecuted claims against corporate fiduciaries. They spend a significant portion of their time engaged in commercial mediation and arbitration.