

Randy J. Johanneck
SVP & Chief Operating Officer
Comerica Wealth Management
Dallas, TX

Randy has 30 years of experience in leading wealth management, risk management, compliance and internal audit functions with Comerica, JPMorgan Chase, Bank One, Bank of America/Seafirst Bank and Pacific First Bank. Presently, Randy is the Chief Operating Officer for Comerica's Wealth Management group, overseeing national sales support, national product management, wealth planning and the operations functions for the wealth businesses. Randy joined Comerica in December 2009 and initially served as the Chief Risk Officer for Comerica Wealth Management for 3.5 years. Prior to that, beginning in 2001, he was Managing Director and head of the National Risk Management function for the Private Wealth Management Division of JPMorgan Chase, holding the same position at Bank One prior to its merger with JPMC.

During Randy's first 18 years, he held various internal audit leadership roles at Bank of America/Seafirst Bank, Pacific First Bank and Bank One, where he increasingly focused on investment management, the trust business, asset/liability management and capital markets, building on a base of experience across the range of commercial banking functions.

Randy graduated from the University of Washington, where he earned a BA in Business Administration with an Accounting Concentration and a BS in Computer Science. He formerly held CPA and internal audit certifications. Randy is a member of the Tocqueville Society of the United Way of Metropolitan Dallas and is a mentor in the Big Brothers Big Sisters mentor2.0 program.
